BANKERS TO CONFER.

Agitation Will Put Funds to Relieve Europe's Starving in Honest Hands.

By Martin Green.

A conference in Washington to-day, aftended by representatives of big New York banks which have never engaged extensively in what is called the "retail" foreign exchange business, is expected to result in Treasury Department and State Department rulings and indomements which should have an immediate effect on the operations of dishonest and irreaponsible persons, calling themselves pankers, brokers or agents, who are making vast illegitimate profits shrough the transmission of money to Central and Eastern Europe.

The co-operation of foreign govern wents with the United States Government in contemplated reforms will it is anticipated, almost immediately remedy flagrant evils and graduallyunless there be another war in Europe-place the responsibility of sending money in small amounts to Europe in safe, reliable and properly supervised hands.

The question is one of vast importance, involving not only the matter of the cheating of the poor and ignorant foreign language speaking residents of this country out of immense sums daily, but immfgration promotion in violation of the laws and American foreign trade and comnerce, which is being adversely affected by the present system of handling international exchange,

So big and widespread and involved are the issues that agreements between governments are necessary to nsure action which will be of any value. One of the chief troublesaside from the dishonesty and trick-
